

International Culture & Leisure

in Holland 2009-2010

Sunday September 20th - City Hall Atrium - The Hague

International Culture & Leisure in Holland 2009-2010

For the last three years, Feel At Home In The Hague has presented The International Community Fair which was conceived to create an opportunity for introducing the International community to the numerous social groups, clubs and associations providing activities for their leisure time in The Hague region.

During those three years the fair has secured its position as one of the highlights of The Hague's International community agenda. Last year, the fair which is held in the atrium of the city hall attracted over 4,000 visitors and around 200 organisations participated.

The 2008 Feel At Home In The Hague Fair was nominated for the Den Haag Marketing Promotieprijz 2008 in the category Tourism/Economy. The prize is awarded each year to a person or organisation who or which has made a significant positive contribution to promoting the city over the past year.

For 2009 we have decided to use International Culture and Leisure in Holland 2009/2010 as the theme for the fair. By doing this we are extending an invitation to all Expats and Internationally minded people that live in Holland to attend the fair.

The fair will provide the Expat and International community with information about professional Cultural and Leisure performances and activities in Holland. There will be specific emphasis on the 4 major cities Amsterdam, Rotterdam, The Hague and Utrecht. This conurbation is often referred to as the Randstad and has around 120,00 Expat and International inhabitants who live within an hour travelling time from all the 4 major cities.

We will also publish and give to each visitor a magazine, produced in conjunction with Time Out Amsterdam to coincide with the fair listing the "Dutch no problem" Culture, and Leisure events in the Holland for the cultural season 2009/2010.

So if you are interested in the International Leisure & Culture possibilities within a hours drive from you home - the City Hall, The Hague on Sunday 20 September is the place to be.

We have not forgotten our roots and there will also be representatives from sports and social clubs in The Hague region present at the fair.

Last but not least, this year the fair will also be part of city of The Hague's International Peace day festivities.
